

house plants

Sprouted wheatgrass makes an unexpectedly sophisticated display that is ideal for the clean lines of this contemporary interior make fantastic green-and-grey ornamental detail in pale terracotta cylindrical or rectangular pots, especially when repeated, all in a row; ruby-edged Kalanchoe and pink-toned grey Echeveria are excellent for the purpose.

Diana also plants small rosettes of sedums in a shallow, metal tray, and dresses them with a mulch of broken shells. She suggests an entire dry garden of star-shaped agaves in the deepest of terrazzo-type window box, topped with small pieces of stone or polystyrene chips. To keep the plants happy? Neglect them, watering sparingly.

Book offer

Readers of Homes & Property can buy Indoor Gardening for the special price of £17 including p&p (usual price, £20 plus p&p). Ring 01223 894870, quoting Q41117ES, and your credit card number. This offer ends on 13 December 2002.

Below: Diana believes the art of indoor gardening lies in combining plant, container and interior in such a way as to complement each other and enhance the colour scheme. Here a collection of china is offset by the mass of lavender in ceramic bowls

G

Bay
Chr

Now h differ tree to door th
a tradi
not ha useful

A nic
green l
delight
the fro
gold ri
lights.

pinch
Home
specir
betwe trained

the do
These (think
Homes
saving

Call 1
card re
20 Nov

Pictures by Caroline Arber
from the book Indoor Gardening by Diana Yakeley

IF YC
begi
past
appr
Roya
Flow
anytl

A d
high
color
plant
man
buy
Hom
for th
The 7pm
the n